

Michael Delfiandra

Artist Bio

Michael Delfiandra is a South Jersey-born and raised artist, designer, metal fabricator, and Stockton University alumnus with a background in graphic design and more than 20 years of hands-on fabrication experience. His work combines technical craftsmanship with creative design, transforming steel and other materials into large-scale pieces built to last. Through Last Chance Enterprises, Michael brings together his experience in welding, fabrication, and design to create custom metalwork and public art that reflects both craftsmanship and originality.
